The Barbarian Migrations, AD 300-500

This is a major survey of the barbarian migrations and their role in the fall of the Roman Empire and the creation of early medieval Europe, one of the key events in European history. Unlike previous studies it integrates historical and archaeological evidence and discusses Britain, Ireland, mainland Europe and North Africa, demonstrating that the Roman Empire and its neighbours were inextricably linked.

Barbarian Migrations and the Roman West - Guy Halsall

Völkerwanderung, migration of peoples, is a name coined in the 16th century for the period between about 375 and about 568 in which the Roman empire in the west was substituted by the barbarian kingdoms of the Goths, Vandals, Burgundians, Franks, Lombards, and others (Pohl 2002). The term still evokes ideas of tribes on the move, Huns and Germans who emerge from barbarian countries, raid Roman territories and destroy ancient civilization.
