NPTEL :: Chemical Engineering - Mass Transfer Operations I

In one run, the following data were reported: effective particle diameter 5.71 mm gas stream mass velocity 0.816 kg/m²-s temperature at the surface 311 K pressure 97.7 kPa $k_G = 4.415 \times 10^{-3}$ kmol/m²-s-atm With the assumption that the properties of the gas mixture are the same as those of air, calculate the gas-film mass-transfer coefficient using equation (2-55) and compare the result with the value reported by Wilke and Hougan.

PRINCIPLES AND MODERN APPLICATIONS OF MASS TRANSFER OPERATIONS

Fundamentals of Mass Transfer When a single phase system contains two or more species whose concentrations are not uniform, mass is transferred to minimize the concentration differences within the system. In a multi-phase system mass is transferred due to the chemical potential differences between the species.

6.1 Mass Transfer Fundamentals A group of unit operations for separating the components of mixtures is based on the transfer of material from one homogenous phase to another.
