Landscape painting, also known as landscape art, is the depiction of landscapes in art – natural scenery such as mountains, valleys, trees, rivers, and forests, especially where the main subject is a wide view – with its elements arranged into a coherent composition. In other works, landscape backgrounds for figures can still form an important part of the work.

Hi Will, I hope its okay to comment on an old post. Your story about the tango man made me think about the difficulties of painting in changing light conditions – how a colour appears depends on the light source, and artificial light can give a painting a completely different hue compared to how it appears in daylight.

The number one mistake all beginners make is buying a pre-stretched canvas or canvas board from a discount book store and not unwrapping the cellophane from it.. The number two mistake is leaving the canvas white when they start painting.. The first technique I always teach in painting (and a technique I use on 99% of my work) is to cover the white canvas with one solid paint colour which is ...

Joseph Mallord William Turner RA (23 April 1775 – 19 December 1851), known as J. M. W. Turner and contemporarily as William Turner, was an English Romantic painter, printmaker and watercolourist, known for his expressive colourisation, imaginative landscapes and turbulent, often violent marine paintings. Turner was born in Maiden Lane, Covent Garden, London, to a modest lower middle-class ...
