Handloading or reloading is the process of loading firearm cartridges or shotgun shells by assembling the individual components (case/hull, primer, powder, and bullet/shot), rather than purchasing completely assembled, factory-loaded ammunition.

Handloading - Wikipedia

The development of the hand culverin and matchlock arquebus brought about the use of cast lead balls as projectiles. "Bullet" is derived from the French word boulette, which roughly means "little ball".

You will need a set of reloading dies for each caliber. If you buy a set with a carbide sizing die, you will not have to lube straight-walled cases before sizing.

What equipment do I need to start reloading

You might be belling the case mouth too much. You want the flared out part to just be outside the OD of the bullet. Just enough to not shave the bullet when seating, no more.
